Marg Freeland Named Homecoming Queen

CAROL
WESSELS

LEE

QUEEN

MARY

MERDYS
ANDERSON

By LINDA STULL

Tears glistened in the eyes of senior Margaret Freeland as she was crowned Homecoming Queen by President John W. Bachman at Kastle Kapers last night.

"I am very happy," she said, "this is a time of much emotion, and I would like to thank everyone."

Sharing her happiness was her escort and fiance senior Ron Nelson, who reigned with her last year as Snow Weekend Royalty.

Queen Marg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Freeland of Cambridge. She is an elementary education major.

A cheerleader for the past four years, Marg is also a member of SEA, chairman of the traditions committee of the student senate and is a senior class senator.

Marg was Spring Sports Queen in 1963.

Court Listed

Members of Queen Marg's court are Miss Merdys Anderson, Miss Mary Charlson, Miss Carol Lee and Miss Carol Wessels.

Merdys, the daughter of Mr. Wilfer Anderson and the late Mrs. Blanche Anderson, is from Forest City. She is a member of Student Education Association, Lutheran Student Association, Ushers Club and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary teachers scholastic fraternity.

She is an English major and is presently student teaching in the junior high at Plainfield. Merdys was a Snow Weekend attendant last year and is also student body secretary.

Mary is from St. Ansgar. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Charlson, she is a music education major and is a member of Music Educators National Conference, Oratorio Chorus, Castle Singers, SEA, Kappa Delta Pi and Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic fraternity.

Mary was Fall Sports Queen last year and a Spring Sports Queen attendant in 1964. She is planning to teach next year and is presently student teaching in vocal music at Denver.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, Carol is from Rochester, Minn. She is president of Women's Judicial Council and Pi Sigma and is a member of French Club and Hans Sachs Verein, German club.

Carol Studies In Germany

Carol was Spring Sports Queen and a Snow Weekend attendant last year. She was also a member of the Pi Sigma Christmas Court in 1962.

With a German major and French minor, she is planning to teach after graduation. Carol spent part of last summer studying at Schiller College in Germany.

Carol Wessels is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wessels of Independence. She is a member of SEA, Ushers Club, Pi Sigma and is president of French Club. She was also a member of the Wartburg Choir which toured Europe last summer.

She is a French major and an English minor and is also planning on a teaching career. Carol was Miss Waverly of 1964.

Homecoming Dance, Banquet Are Tonight

Homecoming banquet and dance tonight will end a day jam-packed with activities for students and alumni.

"Antique Autumn," Homecoming banquet, which will replace Saturday evening's regular meal, will be served from 5 - 7 p.m. in the college dining hall. Students who do not have reservations may attend, since reservations will also be available at the door.

Dates Are Not Required

Dates are not required for the banquet, according to Homecoming Chairman Dave Wegenast, and students are encouraged to attend either singly or in groups.

Serving at the banquet will be interrupted at 6:30 p.m. for a brief banquet program. Pastor Sig G. Sandrock of San Francisco, Calif., a member of the class of 1940, will be guest speaker.

Sandrock is pastor of Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, located in a San Francisco suburb, and also serves as a volunteer chaplain at San Quentin prison.

Sandrock Is Chaplain

He spoke at a convocation two years ago and described his experiences at San Quentin, including the time he witnessed the gas chamber execution of one of the inmates there.

Allen Welsh and his orchestra will provide music for the Homecoming dance, "Vogue," which will begin at 9:30 tonight. Tickets will be available at the door at a cost of $2.50 per couple.

Today's activities got under way this morning with an alumni breakfast and annual alumni meeting at 8:30.

Parade Is Success

Eight high school bands, plus the Wartburg Marching Knights, the traditional floats and queens and Queen of the Snows from the St. Paul, Minn., Winter Carnival appeared in the parade this morning.

A high school marching band trophy and the winners of the campus decoration and float contest were announced at this afternoon's Homecoming game.

A special Homecoming worship service will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Chapel-auditorium. Guest speaker will be Pastor John E. Meyer of Toledo, Ohio, who is a member of the class of 1945.

The President Speaks

A MESSAGE FROM JOHN W. BACHMAN

Homecoming is a reminder that Wartburg covers much more than 76 acres. Wartburg extends "from blue Hawaii to the New York island" and beyond to Germany, New Guinea, Viet Nam and many other distant places. We have students this year from Hawaii and New Guinea because alumni live there. Three juniors are in Germany and alumni are in the armed forces in Viet Nam.

The presence of alumni among us this weekend suggests the actual spread of Wartburg beyond the immediate campus. From many different occupations and locations our graduates come to renew ties with their Alma Mater.

We refer to Wartburg these days as a "community in motion." The alumni are part of that community, and they are moving -- some of them not so rapidly as they once did on the football field or dance floor -- but into positions of increasing responsibility and influence. We welcome them with pride and in the hope that they can help us move toward greatness in Christian higher education.

Students Come Of Age

"World Come of Age"--that's the theme of this year's convocation. Perhaps a more relevant theme would be "Wartburg Come of Age."

After the 1963 Surgeon General's report concerning the correlation of cigarettes and cancer, Wartburg very promptly took cigarettes out of the Den. Apparently it was felt that Wartburg students weren't old enough to decide if they wanted to smoke. So Wartburg decided for them by attempting to remove the horrible temptation.

Chalk Up Reversal

We keep striving to become a more progressive and grown-up college, and then turn around and do unprogressive things like this. Why are these things done when they are actually defeating the purpose and goals of our college--coming of age?

Part of the function of Wartburg College is to stimulate its students to lead worthwhile, Christian lives--not to force them to lead good lives. As the old saying goes, "You can catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar."

We're not implying that just because the Den doesn't sell cigarettes, all Wartburg students will take up smoking as a form of rebellion. This would be childish. Anyone who thinks along those lines does need to have his decisions made for him.

But on the other hand, how many students do you know who quit smoking because cigarettes were no longer sold on campus? Those who quit did so because of personal reasons or because the Surgeon General's report hit home.

It is good for college students to make their own decisions. Our high school friends who didn't go to college were forced to go out into the world and fend for themselves. Yet we, who are supposed to rank higher than they, are still having our decisions made for us.

Acceptance Means Acceptance

We might add that even though cigarettes would again be sold on campus, it doesn't necessarily follow that Wartburg thinks smoking is good just as a "Playboy" ad on a bulletin board doesn't mean that the administration thinks it's the ideal magazine for all college students to read.

The time has come when college students no longer want to constantly have their hands held. This is good. It's a sign of progress--"Wartburg Students Come of Age."

Letters to Editor

'Conservative' Wartburg Faces Modification In Present Policy

Dear Miss Krohlow:
The recent publication of a letter from Mr. Dave Zellmer has resulted in mounting controversy on campus. But such controversy is not limited to this campus alone. On almost every private or public college campus, the literary value versus the pictorial and philosophical "infamy" of "Playboy" has been the subject of widespread debate. It now appears that Wartburg College has arrived at the threshold of decision, which is sure to result in increasing the existent dichotomy of ultra-conservative and liberal campus factions.

Wartburg Is Conservative

Wartburg claims to be a liberal arts college, yet I have reason to believe that the general attitude on campus is that its policies are conservative and dedicated to the expounding of puritanical, Victorian moral values. I think my point was illustrated when Mr. Zellmer stated that he was "shocked" to see the administration's stamp of approval on "Playboy" subscription rates.

I further feel that any reversal in policy that even has the connotation of liberalizing such values is a much needed and much welcomed step in the right direction.

Literature Is Good

It has been shown that "Playboy" can be a source of excellent literature, provocative essays and interviews.

Finally, I feel that Wartburg College must keep pace with today's rapidly changing social norms. I look on with increased admiration at the administration's decision to do so.

If this college intends to fulfill its purpose of rendering a complete education to every student, then it must keep pace with the times.

The approval of posting "Playboy" subscription rates, has shown that this administration intends NOT to be a follower, but rather, the pace-setter.

Sincerely yours,
J. Michael Rudy

When Will Wartburg Desist As 'Haven From Reality'?

Dear Editor:

A person writes a letter to condemn a magazine, as well as the 'misuse' of the famous EFO stamp of approval, and in the process brings out a point that all of us talk about and yet do nothing about.

When will Wartburg College cease and desist from being a haven from that which exists outside of our own boundaries -- reality?

We live within "The Hat," with the general opinion that, since we attend a Christian liberal arts college, we need not concern ourselves with the world of reality.

Real World Defined

The world of reality consists of war, bitterness, hate, love, sin, lust and Playboy Magazine, and all exist without a stamp of approval Reality contains more vice and sin than Playboy Magazine and the average student could possibly conceive.

Muff's Muffs

1946--Year For Cowards

By DICK McCABE

McCabe

As I spent most of last night in meditative dissipation, I felt a pang of sympathy for the guys who are being gobbled up as 1-A. I'm glad my card came back 4-HFE. It's a good way of avoiding combat, but who likes to be classified "Haven't Finished Evolution?"

I'll be darned, though, if I want to spend four years defending a bunch of Orientals who can't fight their own war because they're too busy picketing the nearest U. S. embassy, protesting the same economic aid that helped pay for the signs they carry.

Besides, 1946 was a good year for cowards. If I wanted to get a Purple Heart that badly, I could always go over and cut in the lunch line.

That draft really turns me off. President Johnson sure has a lot of gall. It seems strange that here in the states I can get a $104 fine for drooling everytime someone says fuggle hop, while the government has the right to send me overseas to match my 4-F bod against some three-foot Cong who knows karate.

Besides, if this malaria-immune mercenary wants to get me that badly, let him come over here--I'll have Pastor Diers talk him out of it.

I figure I'm safe, though. If the draft board ever gets to the Wartburg crowd, I know some kids in Centennial that are more war-vintage than anything the football team could put out.

I could always get married, but since that deferment possibility popped up, the trailer court boom has made Levitown look like the Becker Science Hall progress.

I'd probably get all the way over there before finding out they don't sell Mountain Dew, and finding the natives so ignorant they don't worship Hugh Hefner.

I think I'll avoid the whole mess and stay in school so that I can become a farmer and produce a record-breaking 85.3 bushels of corn per acre. Then 28.1 bushels can be nationally consumed; 32.9 bushels can be put in storage bins; and 14.3 bushels can be sent to the Orientals to eat during their picket breaks.

If I ever do get over there, I imagine I'll get captured. After they find out I'm semi-illiterate and fringe on retardedness, I suppose they'll find some newspaper for me to write a column in.

Normally, I don't quit writing this soon, but I'm already three minutes into my seance time. Ten-four.

24 Seniors To Be Included In 'Who's Who Yearbook'

Who's Who Among College Students in American Colleges and Universities will list 24 Wartburg seniors this year.

Student election was held Oct. 7 with results being confirmed by national headquarters this week, according to Rich Bringer, Elections Committee chairman.

Requirements Given

To be eligible for Who's Who, a student must have at least a 2.5 grade point for three consecutive semesters and have been an officer of an organization or have lettered in a sport.

Those selected include Merdys Anderson, Forest City; Richard Basham, Clarion; Roger Baumgardner, Peoria, Ill.; Harold Blobaum, Logansport, Ind.; Walter Buening, Parkston, S.D.; Mary Charlson, Osage; Charles Ciorba, Waverly; Marilyn Fick, Des Moines; Margaret Freeland, Cambridge.

More Students Listed

Eleanore Gerdes, Strawberry Point; William Hamm, Clarion; Roger Kittleson, St. Ansgar; Carol Lee, Rochester, Minn.;

Tickets On Sale For Artist Series

First Artist Series of the 1965-66 season will be held Sunday, Nov. 14, and will feature Marcel Marceau, "the greatest living pantomimist."

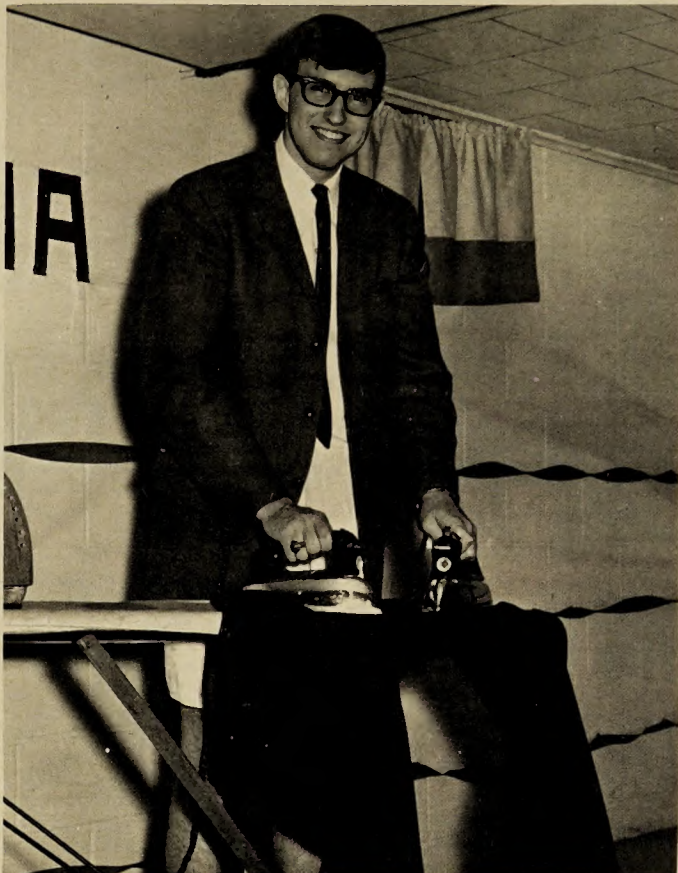

Tickets may be obtained by presenting activity cards at the ticket window in the foyer of the Chapel-auditorium, on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 21 and 22, according to Dr. A. W. Swensen, Artist Series chairman.

Conrad Muehling, Beatrice, Neb.; Ronald Nelson, Fargo, N.D.; Gayle Newlon, Hoopole, Ill.; Diane Peich, Waverly; Michael Peich, Waverly; Roger Prehn, Verona, Wis.

Elizabeth Seidel, Wausau, Wis.; Linda Stull, Alta Vista;

Susan Sutliff, Seymour, Wis.; Carol Wessels, Independence; and Diane Zimmerman, Compton, Ill.

These students will have their names and short biographical sketches about them published in the Who's Who college yearbook.

Hamm Plans Ahead

Bill Hamm, SBP, only presses pants that he intends to wear -- these are for the Luther game, both before and after.

Boyd Speaking At Convo; World Order Block Ends

Present convocation on world order will end next Tuesday. Willard Lee Boyd, professor of law at the University of Iowa, will speak on "International Law in the Modern World."

Boyd

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Boyd received B.S.L. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Minnesota and LL.M. and S.J.D. degrees from the University of Michigan.

LSA To Sponsor Communion

This week's mid-week worship will consist of a Communion service celebrated through a contemporary liturgy.

Worship will be through the liturgy, which will be led by the congregation choir. No sermon will be given.

The contemporary liturgy is designed to be of special significance for college students. The words and music were written by Pastor John Arthur and Daniel Moe of the University of Iowa.

Lutheran Student Association is sponsoring this service to be held Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 6:30 p.m.

He has co-authored with Mason Ladd an article entitled "Iowa Probate Practice." He is also the author of numerous law review articles.

A new convocation series block will begin Thursday of next week with a film, "Brazil: The Gathering Millions," which was produced by the National Educational Television Network.

According to Pastor Herman Diers, this film will begin the new block on the population explosion by dramatically portraying some of the basic issues involved in the population problem.

This new series will deal with the causes, effect and solutions dealing with the problems of over-population of the world.

"This will deal with science to a great extent. Scientific progress has caused this problem. To what extent can science handle it?" said Diers.

Last program of the block has finally been set for Nov. 23. Dr. Allen Guttmacher will speak on "Possibilities for Conception Control." Guttmacher is the president of the Planned Parenthood -- World Population Association.

Movie Tomorrow Ends Homecoming

Double-feature movie tomorrow evening is the last scheduled event for the Homecoming weekend.

"Please Turn Over," an English-produced farce, and "All Hands on Deck," a comedy starring Pat Boone, Buddy Hackett and Dennis O'Keefe, will be shown, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Admission is 50 cents per person and tickets will be available at the door.

Inside Senate

What Is Fate Of WRA?

By SUE KELL

Kell

Noble senators and loyal commissioners gathered about the square conference table Monday night, Oct. 11. Several questions affecting the fair ladies and handsome knights of the Wartburgian realm were discussed.

How will the ladies' intramural tournaments be run? The WRA (Women's Recreation Association) has been organizing women's intramurals for the past several years. Men and women pay an intramural fee during registration, but the men seem to be getting all the benefit.

Financial strain on the WRA because of intramurals has been heavy. Ann Brunscheen, speaking for the WRA, asked, "Could the WRA be included in the intramural program and still remain a separate organization?"

"It would be fairer to the women," Ann contended, "if they would get some benefit from the intramural fee. The WRA shouldn't have to charge non-members 25 cents for each sport."

Before turning the matter over to the sub-committee, Bill mentioned that if the WRA became the Women's Intramural Program, identity as a separate organization might be lost. Many questions remain. If you have an opinion about this matter, speak to your senator.

Dost thou wear thy grubby clothes to the castle banquet given each Wednesday night? Campus knights and ladies seem to be puzzled about the meaning of "dress up" in the traditional dress-up night.

Ron Nelson said, "I've talked to several students this week about dress-up night. There are always these guys in sweatshirts and jeans and no one seems to stop them. Should the student body vote on it in convo? If the vote were affirmative, it could be enforced and not half and half. Students might respect it because they had voted for it."

"We're not trying to force students," Jim Lubben said. "We want to get what students want. The food director has some special things planned, such as candles and a combo. Maybe we should postpone a decision."

Jim is commissioner of the Student Welfare Commission.

Dorothy Schulte, member of the Student Welfare Commission, said, "Students should be well informed. There is some confusion over what is 'dress up.'"

"There is an unwritten law that athletes don't dress up after practice," Laird Yock commented. "This would have to be changed."

Ron added, "How long can we wait? The sooner it is started, the sooner it will be accepted."

Since many questions remained unanswered, the matter was referred to a sub-committee.

The TV Room may be converted into a Senate Room. A committee is working toward this goal.

"The TV Room would be made suitable for the Senate, and the Senate Room would be a more congenial TV Room," said Bill.

The drawbridge was put down and the meeting adjourned. If thou art interested in important issues of the realm, cross the moat next week.

Knees Knocking, Lump In Throat, Are Student Teacher's Feelings

By PAT HANSON

Your knees are knocking, there's a lump in your throat and your eyelids are drooping from hours of preparation for classes.

You're a student at Wartburg. But much more than that, you are a student teacher in one of the elementary or secondary schools near Waverly.

If you're majoring in education, you'll have the opportunity to experience feelings similar to those of senior Carol Lamine, who has been exerting her Wartburg education on a class of fourth graders in Waverly.

Interest Is There

Although she presents a composed facade now, she confides, "I was scared -- as nervous as could be!" Like her colleagues, Carol is amazed by the genuine interest in learning most children seem to have.

Marilee Neptune, senior, student teacher on the secondary level, claims she has had no difficulty with discipline problems. She admits, however, that she has come near the point of exceeding her exhaustion tolerance level.

She's a little more reluctant to admit that the close age differential between her students and herself is somewhat threatening, but she candidly remarks, "It's exciting" and "more fun with real students rather than theory."

What's Cursive Script?

Senior Judy Crowell has encountered a first grader with a vocabulary that would challenge Webster. It seems Judy approached him with some reading material to which he curtly commented, "I'm sorry. I can't read cursive script."

Optimism prevails, however, and seems to be the key to their initial success. Although their chief complaint was, "I'm tired," their smiles qualified their exhaustion with, "but I wouldn't trade this experience for . . ."

Judy Crowell listens patiently as one of her first graders responds to a question.

Trumpet Welcomes Alumni

The Wartburg Trumpet staff welcomes alumni to the 1965 Homecoming festivities.

We're sure that you'll agree with us in calling this the best homecoming ever. We'd like to congratulate Dave Wegenast, Larry Kussatz, Linda Stull, Laird Yock, Al Lyndrup and all of those who helped contribute to the success of this year's homecoming.

Yesterday's barbecue was a unique first in Wartburg Homecoming tradition. Kastle Kapers was a brilliant production. Marg Freeland was a beautiful queen.

Now it remains to be seen if the game and dance are successful. The staff is convinced that they will be.

Happy Homecoming and we'll see you next year.

Knights Can Beat Penn In '65 Homecoming Game

By ED ROACH

Wartburg Knights have an opportunity to leave the basement dwellers and satisfy the Homecoming throng in today's game with William Penn.

The Knights waited until the last two minutes to confirm the first win of the season over Iowa Wesleyan, 21-13, last Saturday.

"We're pleased that we won. The boys learned that it pays to stick in there even though the breaks are going against us," Coach Lee Bondhus remarked concerning the game. "A few mistakes kept us from having a great day."

In the first half alone Knights had the ball in scoring position five times. Twice fine Tiger defensive efforts held the Wartburg gridders, and the other times Dame Fortune played her part in stopping the march.

TD Is Nullified

Jim Renning slashed his way into the end-zone on a 40-yard gallop, only to have the TD nullified by a holding penalty.

Bondhus said dejectedly, "We should have been ahead 30 to nothing at the half."

A goal-line defense in the second half forced quarterback Roger Kittleson to avail himself of the air lanes.

"Last Saturday Kittleson played the best game he has played this year. He deserves credit for moving the team 82 yards in a minute and a half," Bondhus commented.

Defense Is Tough

"Our defense was pretty tough. It only allowed a total of 101 yards in the whole game," Bondhus pointed out with pride. "Both of their touchdowns were really scored against our offensive team on two fumbles," he continued.

Today the defense will have to rise to the occasion to stop Statesman back Chuck Henry. Bondhus regards Henry as the top halfback in the Iowa Conference.

In the Wesleyan game the Knight line had a field day on Tiger kickers.

Newlon Scores

Ron Mennen smashed through the Wesleyan line to block a punt near the opponents' goal line, and Gayle Newlon rambled in for the score. The Knights blocked three other kicks.

In the march for the game-winning touchdown Kittleson and Doug Sires teamed up on a fourth and five screen pass.

On the next play Bob Larson took a Kittleson pass for the score. Sires frosted the cake with a 42-yard tally on an interception in the final action of the game.

Penn Shocks Upper Iowa

Today's opponent, William Penn, shocked Upper Iowa by jumping out to an early lead. The Peacocks, however, lost no time in bouncing back for a 39-13 win.

Statesmen boast a big, young line, averaging about 225 per man. Although Penn has managed to pile up only three touchdowns for the year, two of them came against the huge UIU team.

Wartburg's pass protection will be placed on the block this afternoon. Statesmen appreciate the value of the long bomb. On two previous occasions this weapon has blunted the Knight attack in crucial moments.

"The football team must look at the Homecoming game like any other game," Bondhus commented. "The spirit shown during the week helps us to get up for the game."

Alpha, Ketha Teams Unbeaten In IMs

In the last week of IM competition Alpha - MM - Cotta and Ketha remained unbeaten, Grossmann I suffered its first loss and Off-campus gained its first victory.

Meanwhile, the top floors of Grossmann and Clinton extended their losing streaks to four games each.

Powerhouse Ketha rolled over Grossmann III 39-0. Walt Buehning, John Hearn, Arlen Krueger and Dennis Bowman all made TDs.

Syverson Scores

Lowell Syverson scored twice, Lowell Wiele and Bob Martin scored once each as Alpha - MM - Cotta swamped Vollmer-Gamma 26-0.

North Hall outfought Clinton III Tuesday 6-0. Aivars Zosulius scored the only TD.

Dave Long made one touchdown and then caught a pass from Denny Midthun and raced across the goal for the second score, to give Grossmann II a 13-6 win over Grossmann I. Bill Moews passed for Grossmann I's six points.

Vollmer-Gamma overwhelmed Grossmann III, 32-0. John Mantey, Nails Walters, Jerry Bishop, Ken Barr and Paul Ausenhus, all got into the scoring picture. Kirk Baker was given credit by his teammates for a great job on defense.

Off-campus-Beta won over Clinton I, 14-6. Palmer Clements scored on an interception for the losers.

Dale Stadtmueller scored one of the Off-campus TDs on a long run, and Bill Warchus scored the other on a pass play.

Nobody Asked Me, But . . .

Don't Chortle At Stumpy

By BILL GLITZ

Lynn Altemeier looks like a linebacker about as much as Homecoming Queen Marg Freeland does. The team calls him Stumpy. Why? Why do people call the Empire State Building big? Or Coach Menage loud? Because this describes them best.

Altemeier looks like the poem "Woodman, Spare that Tree" was written for him. Only the woodman didn't listen--and left Lynn Altemeier.

Stumpy may sound like a funny thing to call someone, but the opposition doesn't think it's so funny. Ever run into a stump? It ain't no fun, gang. It doesn't budge.

Altemeier started out the season as a flanker-back. His main job--to catch passes. He didn't really have the speed for running pass patterns, but he had the hands to catch the ball. In fact, he had about the best hands on the team. But there was one main problem. Ever look for a stump in a forest?

Quarterback Roger Kittleson tried it and ended up with a more than occasional acquaintance with the Schield Stadium terrain. Stumpy was out there somewhere, but darned if Kit could see him.

Then a guy by the name of Jerry Zehr came along, and it looked like Lynn Altemeier might see only limited action for the rest of the year.

Coach Lee Bondhus was overjoyed with the pass-catching of Zehr (anyone catching the ball would have made Bondhus drool a couple of weeks ago), but Bondhus was having another problem. He was losing sleep. He knew that a guy by the name of Altemeier should be in the lineup somewhere. And then Bondhus hit on it. Linebacker. The linebacker spot is like the skid row of football.

Don't go into a linebacker's territory unless you're armed. Linebackers are the type of people you see ramming their heads into walls. Then they get up and do it again. For kicks they chew on nails. As Coach Menage would say, "They have to love it." And Altemeier does. Contact to Stumpy is like corn in Iowa. They couldn't exist without it.

Watching Stumpy open his mailbox or the Union door is a delight in itself. He doesn't just open it, he attacks it. They should follow him around with spare door handles and hinges.

Saturday, Stumpy attacked Tigers. Iowa Wesleyan Tigers. All he did was to recover three fumbles, make several bone-bruising tackles (a stump standing still is bad enough, but one moving at you is hell, brother), get in on many more tackles (nothing like a couple extra licks), and be part of an almost invincible Knight pass defense defending the short area.

The Knights already have one All-conference linebacker possibility in Ron Mennen. If Lynn Altemeier learns the ropes at linebacker very quickly, there might be two.

I just want Stumpy to know I'm on his side. I don't want any part of him mistaking me for the opposition. I like being healthy.

Want one last laugh? When and if the Knights go into a six-man line, Stumpy goes to tackle. William Penn will probably get a good chortle out of this.

Of course, Wesleyan chortled last week when they saw him at linebacker. But the chortling won't last too long. It's hard to chortle with your teeth in your throat.

WISHES WARTBURG A SUCCESSFUL HOMECOMING WEEKEND

All-around Athlete Jerry Zehr Says 'Penn Is No Pushover'

By JACK EDEN

Senior Jerry Zehr is probably as close as you can come to being an all-around athlete. He is a star flanker-back for this year's Lee-men, an excellent basketball player and a mainstay of the track team.

In high school at Flanagan, Ill., he lettered all four years in football, basketball, track and baseball. During his senior year he was all-conference in both football and basketball, All-State honorable mention in football and Little All-American in basketball.

This is actually Jerry's first year in football for the Knights. He was out for a few weeks when he was a freshman, but he suffered a knee injury and could not play for the remainder of the season.

Zehr Makes Comeback

Jerry certainly has made a strong comeback for the Knights. In last Saturday's game with Iowa Wesleyan he caught five passes for 45 yards in spite of double coverage by the Tiger backs.

"That was really something, I would no sooner get off the line than I would get hit twice," Jerry remarked of the Wesleyan game.

Reason for the caution exercised by the Tigers was the fact that in the preceding game against Upper Iowa Jerry picked up 195 yards on passes from Roger Kittleson, including two touchdown scrambles.

Penn Isn't Pushover

"The team is really fired up for Homecoming, but I wouldn't consider Penn a pushover," Jerry continued. "Their half-back, Chuck Henry, already has three pro teams looking at him. I don't know how, but we will have to stop him."

On the asset side of the ledger, "We have a strong passing offense. At the end of the Wesleyan game they were dropping off seven men to stop our passes, but we still got our touchdown."

All-around athlete, senior Jerry Zehr is Coach Lee Bondhus' top pass receiver. This is his first full season on the Knight gridiron.

Zehr himself has hauled in passes totaling 240 yards. This record places him well within reach of the receiving record held by Wendell Liemohn, 500 yards in 1954.

Jerry also is listed by the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics as ninth in the nation.

Zehr Looks Ahead

Looking forward to the Luther game, Jerry said, "I don't know how we're going to do against the Norskies. But it will be a good game because both teams are always fired up for it."

Although the gridgers have won only a single game this year, Zehr definitely thinks the team has two strong points: the high spirit and the coaching staff.

In the fall Jerry likes to spend his spare time with a rifle in his hand. He carries a Springfield automatic for rabbits and squirrels.

This year he fears that he may miss opportunities for pheasant hunting because of previous engagements for Saturday afternoons.

It's no wonder that Jerry is an all-around athlete; he has five brothers who are all fine athletes.

"I guess I was raised in sports," he laughed.

Runners To Meet Luther; Season Record Is 5-1

Surging Knight harriers will face Gene Takle and company from Luther College Wednesday at 4 p.m. in what promises to be "the meet of the year."

The big question will be whether the "bunched" running of the Knights can withstand Takle and the rest of Luther's defending conference champs over a strenuous four-mile distance at the Waverly golf course.

The course record will no doubt be up for grabs as Luther's untiring Takle seems to be going all out in his senior college year.

Harriers Travel To Pella

The following Saturday Wartburg harriers will travel to Pella for a morning session with the Central College runners.

Last Saturday Wartburg harriers showed signs of warming up for the Luther meet as they easily captured a triangular meet from Loras and Platteville at Platteville, Wis. This put their season record at 5-1.

Wartburg finished with 21 points; Loras tallied 45; and host Platteville trailed with 66 points.

Loras Takes First Place

Bob Munoz of Loras College salvaged first place, completing the 3.5-mile course in a time of 19 minutes and 3 seconds.

Wartburg, led by Jon Thieman's 19-minute-15-second clocking, rallied for five of the next six places. Rod Holt was third; Gaylen Fick, fourth; Steve Jacob, fifth; and Mike Hughes, seventh. Loras' Larry Kruse took sixth place.

Wartburg harriers today ran against the William Penn harriers at 10:30 a.m. on the Waverly golf course.

Junior Varsity Loses To Luther; Frosh To Meet SCI Next Weekend

Luther's junior varsity tallied 19 points in the first quarter and later added a TD and the extra point to take a 26-12 decision over Wartburg's Squires last Monday night.

Fumbles plagued the yearlings early in the game, and Luther wasted no time in taking advantage of Squire mistakes.

"The freshman players are dedicated to the game," frosh coach Hal Walter praised. "They fought back like men after being behind 19-0 in the first quarter."

A serious problem is the fact that the Squires cannot hold a full scrimmage because of their scanty numbers.

"Of course, we're always disappointed when we lose, but the idea of the program is to rebuild the Knights' fighting spirit," Walter said.

He stressed the importance of the young coaching staff and said that he feels that if they receive the right kind of material, they will be able to firmly establish a winning tradition at Wartburg.

Walter was hesitant to single out any individuals for praise, but finally pointed to Wayne Stier of Belle Plaine, Minn. Stier blocked a Norseman punt and scored a touchdown.

Frosh meet powerful State College of Iowa in their next grid encounter, Oct. 21. SCI's junior varsity squad is regarded as the best during the reign of Stan Sheriff as head football coach.

1946 Queen, Emilie Hanneman, Is Missionary In New Guinea

By DEAN KRUCKEBERG

"She was a beautiful Homecoming queen!" said Mrs. Paul Koch, the former Joan Sandrock, attendant to the Wartburg College Homecoming queen of 1946. "Emilie Hannemann was a tall, willowy blonde with brown eyes."

"I remember her quite well," continued Mrs. Koch, who now lives in Waverly. "She was quiet and unassuming, but you always knew that she was around."

"She had a type of wholesomeness about her. She was sincere and friendly towards everyone. We all respected her. She had a quality of genuineness which we all admired."

Queen Makes Gown

"Emilie was a dedicated person, interested in her studies, but also very active in campus activities. She was devout and very resourceful. I can remember that she made her own gown for Homecoming. It was a lovely green taffeta."

Although Emilie, now Mrs. Erwin Heist, will probably be at Wartburg this weekend for Homecoming festivities, she has spent most of her post-college life very far away -- in New Guinea.

After Miss Hannemann left Wartburg in 1947, she went to Milwaukee to earn a degree in nursing. Soon after earning her degree, she was married to Erwin Heist, a classmate at Wartburg College. Heist's father is E. G. Heist, a former piano and organ instructor at Wartburg.

Couple Makes Team

Just after they were married, Heist began his internship as a medical doctor. This marked the beginning of an adventurous career in medicine for the new husband-wife team.

For the past 15 years, the Heists have dedicated their lives to the medical care of the natives of New Guinea. They live and work at a small hospital called Jaguam, which is around eight miles from Madang, a large city in northern New Guinea.

"It is a small hospital," explained Martin Hannemann, half-brother of Emilie Heist and a student here now. "The hospital is owned and managed by the American Lutheran Church. The natives depend on the hospital for their medical needs."

"All the natives of the area go there, regardless of their religious convictions. Quite often they cannot pay for the care that they receive. Those who do often pay in food and native goods."

Sacrifices Are Necessary

"There are only two or three doctors at the hospital at one time. It is quite difficult for the hospital to get doctors, for they must make many sacrifices in comfort and income if they work in a mission hospital. It takes dedication."

The Heists returned to the United States late last year on furlough. Erwin has been taking a psychiatry course in St. Paul, but because of the shortage of doctors at the hospital in New Guinea, he will discontinue his studying and return there.

Emilie does all the pharmaceutical work for the hospital, as well as training native girls in nursing. When she returns to New Guinea soon, she will also have the responsibility of caring for their own little girl.

Many times she has gone inland with her husband on errands of mercy, treating natives who could not come to the hospital.

Wartburg College can be very proud of the "tall, willowy blonde" it chose as its Homecoming queen in 1946.

Knights Capture Pigs

Those slippery pigs won't get away this time! At the end of the greased pig contest during Thursday night's "Naughty Knights Mighty Nightie March" all of the pigs were captured by the fearless Knights.

Local School Will Be Host

St. Paul's Lutheran School in Waverly will be host to the annual convention of the American Lutheran Education Association -- Eastern Region -- on Oct. 21 - 22.

Included among the speakers will be Dr. Walter G. Tillmanns, Modern Languages Department. He will give views on foreign language instruction for Lutheran schools and will present materials and procedures.

Following a tour of Wartburg on Thursday, the group will be served dinner in the Castle Room.

F. F. Knitt, principal of St. Paul's School, is president of the association.

Date Is Changed For Frosh Film

The first English Department movie will be shown Tuesday, Oct. 26, instead of Friday, Oct. 22, as previously announced, according to Dr. Phillip Kildahl, film series co-ordinator.

Since the film will be a movie version of Stendahl's novel "The Red and the Black," Kildahl advises that students read portions of the novel before seeing the film.

Am Wichelshof Is New Home For Wartburg Students In Bonn

Hi!
A lot has happened to Connie and me since the last letter I wrote. It's kind of hard to keep the length of this letter at a minimum and still say all I want to say.
For one thing, we have moved into new rooms rented for us by the Office for Foreign Students here in Bonn. They are a lot nicer and more modern than our others.

Maahs

Am Wichelshof, where we now live, is a Studentinnenheim, or a home for students, that is quite similar to our dorms in the United States. Each floor is provided with a kitchen, so Connie and I now cook most of our meals.

Girls Are Friendly

The girls here have been very friendly to us, and we have discovered that the best way to meet them is to spend a lot of time in the kitchen where everyone is bound to come sooner or later. We have been having a great deal of fun by experimenting with food and cooking. Yesterday we had spaghetti, a real old-fashioned American meal, and the other day we had pancakes. We sure have come a long way from liverwurst and hard rolls.

Last week we started our language course, which is only for Americans. Both of us are getting quite a bit out of it.

German Classes Fill Day

From 9:30 to 12:30 every morning we have grammar. The afternoon sessions are devoted to various lectures over customs, German idioms, the educational system in Germany, German literature, etc.

Probably the best thing this course is teaching us is how little we know, and, consequently, both of us are trying harder to improve our German.

As you can guess, Connie and I really appreciate getting mail here.

We have gotten to know the mailman because we meet him every day on our way to our classes at the university. Now he keeps out our letters and hands them to us when he meets us. Something like this could never happen in America.

Bobby Getzloff Arrives

Bobby (Getzloff) arrived here last week, so now the contingent from Wartburg is complete. She lives in the Dietrich Bonhoeffer Haus, where previous Wartburg students have lived.

Before our language course began, Connie and I spent a week in southern Germany and a week in Switzerland. We stayed with a German family in Tübingen, Germany, with whom my brother and his wife lived for three years while he was studying there. The week we spent in Switzerland was really fabulous, and neither of us will ever forget all that we saw and learned in that short space of time. We did not have a great deal of money, so we economized whenever it was possible.

Nights Spent In Stations

For example, we spent three nights in railroad stations in order to afford hotel rooms for the other three nights. We carried all our food with us in a little straw basket, so most of our meals were heavy on the peanut butter and bread.

We had several opportunities to meet the type of Europeans whom most tourists never get to meet by staying in those railroad stations. It was worth the loss of sleep just to be able to be a part of that other way of life.

Right now all three of us are thinking about Homecoming and wish we could be there at Wartburg.

--- Katie Maahs

German Countess Visits Wartburg College Campus

Countess Irmgard von Kanitz, former supervisor of Dietrich-Bonhoeffer - Haus in Bonn, Germany, visited Wartburg Monday, Oct. 11.

She is on her way to Seattle, Wash., where she will observe parish work and American church life.

Dietrich - Bonhoeffer - Haus, a protestant co-ed dorm, has housed three exchange students from Wartburg -- Lolly Wesenberg, Elizabeth Bomhoff, Larry Trachte and one of this year's exchange students, Roberta Getzloff.

Exchange Is Tradition

This exchange between Wartburg and Dietrich - Bonhoeffer - Haus is fast becoming tradition.

The Countess said, "I am so impressed with Wartburg and the wonderful reception. I wish I were twenty years younger, so I could come here to study."

Commenting on America, she said, "It is interesting -- different from the way Germany is beautiful but very beautiful in its own way. The Americans are so friendly -- easy to become acquainted with."

Students Hear Countess

The Countess spoke to three of the German classes on Monday, answered questions on life in Germany and the German Church.

When a student asked what her first impression of New York City was, she replied that she had gone up in the Empire State Building where she saw the skyscrapers against the sunset. "It took me off my feet -- marvelous, marvelous!"
